11. VALUATION: PROCEDURES AND FACTORS:

The valuation exercise is aimed at the assessment of the Fair Value of the company. We are required to arrive at the above valuations based on internationally accepted valuation practices.

As per RICS appraisal Manual, the Fair Value (FV) is defined as 'The price that would be received to sell an asset, or paid to transfer a liability, in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.'

Ind AS (113) as well as IFRS 13 defines fair value as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

Approach and Methodology

Valuation is not an exact science and is dependent on various factors such as specific nature of business, economic life cycle in which the industry and company is operating, past financial performance of the business, future growth potential of the business, business model, management of the company, relevance of technology in the business model, liquidity of equity and much more. The results of the valuation exercise may vary significantly depending on the basis used, the specific circumstances and the judgement of the valuer. In respect of going concerns, certain valuation techniques have evolved over time and are commonly in vogue.

IVS 105 read with IVS 200 specifies that generally the following three approaches for valuation of business/business ownership interest are used:

- I. Cost Approach - Net Asset Value (NAV)
- II. Income Approach
- III. Market Approach.

I. Cost Approach - Net Asset Value (NAV)

The value under Cost Approach is determined based on the underlying value of assets which would be on book value basis, replacement cost basis or on the basis of Realizable value. The Net Assets Method represents the value with reference to historical cost of assets owned by the company and the attached liabilities on particular date. Net asset will be calculated starting from the total assets of the company and deducting there from all debts, borrowing and liabilities, including current and Likely contingent Liability and preference capital if any. In other words, it should represent true net worth of business after providing for all outside present and potential liabilities. In the case of companies, the net assets value calculated from assets side of the balance sheet in the above manner will be crossed checked with equity share capital plus free reserve and surplus, less likely contingent liabilities.

We have considered the above approach as the said method derives the value with reference to historical cost of assets owned by the company and the attached liabilities on particular date.

II. Income Approach- Price Earning approach, or Discounted Cash Flows (DCF) method

Price Earning approach: Earning of past year vis a vis with Industry earning Under Income Approach, business is valued by converting maintainable or future amount of cash flows to a single current amount either through discounting or capitalization. DCF method seeks to arrive at the value of the business based on its future cash flows generating capability and the risks associated with the said cash flows. Free Cash Flow to Firm (FCFF) represents the cash flows available for distribution to both the owners and other creditors of the business. Risk-adjusted discount rate or Weighted Average Cost of Capital (WACC) is applied to free cash flows in the explicit period and that in perpetuity. Adjustments pertaining to debt, surplus/non-operating assets including investments, cash & bank balances and contingent assets/liabilities and other liabilities, as relevant, are required to be made in order to arrive at the value for equity shareholders. The total value for the equity shareholders so arrived is then to be divided by the number of equity shares to arrive at the value per equity share of the company.

III. Market Approach:

Market approach is a valuation approach that uses prices and other relevant information generated by market transactions involving identical or comparable (i.e., similar) assets, liabilities or a group of assets and liabilities, such as a business.

The following valuation methods are commonly used under the market approach:

- a) Market Price Method;
- b) Comparable Companies Multiple (CCM) Method; and
- c) Comparable Transaction Multiple (CTM) Method;

a) Market Price Method

Under this method a valuer shall consider the traded price observed over a reasonable period while valuing assets which are traded in the active market. A valuer shall also consider the market where the trading volume of asset is the highest when such asset is traded in more than one active market. A valuer shall also consider the market where the trading volume of asset is the highest when such asset is traded in more than one active market.

The Equity Shares of Company are listed on BSE for a period of more than 90 trading days as on the relevant date i.e. 16th February, 2026 and are frequently traded in accordance with SEBI ICDR Regulations.

In case of “frequently traded shares (Regulation 164(1) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations:

If the equity shares of the Company have been listed on a recognised stock exchange for a period of 90 trading days or more as on the relevant date, the price of the equity shares to be allotted pursuant to the preferential issue shall be not less than higher of the following;

- a. the 90 trading days' volume weighted average price of the related equity shares quoted on the recognised stock exchange preceding the relevant date; or
- b. the 10 trading days' volume weighted average prices of the related equity shares quoted on a recognised stock exchange preceding the relevant date.

Provided that if the Articles of Association of the issuer provide for a method of determination which results in a floor price higher than that determined under these regulations, then the same shall be considered as the floor price for equity shares to be allotted pursuant to the preferential issue.

Articles of Association of the Company do not provide for any particular method of determination which results in a floor price higher than that determined under SEBI ICDR Regulations.

Accordingly, we have determined value of equity share of the company as prescribed under the above regulations for market approach.

We have considered this method for valuation of equity shares of company.

b) Comparable Companies Multiple (CCM) Method

Comparable Companies Multiple Method, also known as Guideline Public Company Method, involves valuing an asset based on market multiples derived from prices of market comparable traded on active market. Under this method, the value of shares of the subject company is determined on the basis of multiples derived from valuations of comparable companies. Relevant multiples need to be chosen carefully and adjusted for differences between the circumstances. The CCM Method arrives at the value of the company by using multiples derived from valuations of comparable companies, as manifest through stock market valuations of listed companies. This valuation is based in the principle that market valuations, taking place between informed buyers and sellers, incorporate all factors relevant to valuation.

c) Comparable Transaction Multiple (CTM) Method

Comparable Transaction Multiple Method, also known as 'Guideline Transaction Method' involves valuing an asset based on transaction multiples derived from prices paid in transactions of asset to be valued /market comparable (comparable transactions). We have therefore not considered CTM method for valuation due to non-availability of similar comparable transaction.

12. VALUATION ANALYSIS:

The value per equity share of the company are based on the various approaches/methods explained herein earlier and various qualitative factors relevant to each company and the business dynamics and growth potential of the business of the Companies, having regard to information base, key underlying assumptions and limitations. We have independently applied methods discussed above, as considered appropriate, i.e. Net Asset Value Method, Market price method and Income Approach for determining value per share of the company.

In light of the above and on consideration of all the relevant factors and circumstances as discussed and outlined herein above referred to earlier in this report for the proposed transaction, we recommend the fair value of equity shares of the company at INR 14.89 per equity share which is higher of value arrived in Annexure A and B.

In terms of first Proviso to the Sub-Regulation 1 of Regulation 166A r.w. Sub-Regulation 1 of Regulation 166A and Sub-Regulation 1 of Regulation 164 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2018 (“SEBI ICDR Regulations”) and by using the Valuation Parameters, the following is the Valuation Analysis of Equity Shares of the Company.

13. CONCLUSION:

Further, as per second proviso to Regulation 166A of SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018, if any proposed preferential issue is likely to result in a change in control of the issuer, the valuation report from the registered valuer shall also cover guidance on control premium, which shall be computed over and above the price determined in terms of the first proviso.
